WAILUKU, Maui, September 26 .-Wednesday, the 26th, the Board of Registration returned to Maui from Molokai after a week's stay. They report a registration of 464, 315 at Kalaupapa and 139 in the Pukoo precinct.

At the Settlement they held a meeting in Beretania Hall. While their meeting was in progress John Richardson and John H. Wise though not permitted to land, addressed the natives from the Lehua's small boat which was fastened to the shore.

A large crowd of Kalaupapa and Kalawao residents thronged the shore and listened to Democratic doctrine. The speakers after a brave attempt succumbed to seasickness and returned to the steamer. At intervals during the political meeting the Kalawao brass

CITY CEMETERY

Will be Opened in Another Week--Catholics and Chinese Secure Tracts.

According to the statements of the promoters of the new cemetery at Pearl Harbor the place will be open for the Advertised list of men's letters uncalled reception of bodies in another week. F J. Berry, who is the head of the hui which has been planning the creation of the new cemetery, said on Saturday evening that the company had secured contracts with the Catholics and with the Chinese of the city whereby they agreed to take portions of the cemetery for their use and not to use any other cemetery.

> "We have obtained excellent terms from the railroad company," said Mr. Berry," they are to supply two fine funeral cars and run a funeral train each day. Their charges will be but a dollar for each corpse and fifty cents for each of the live passengers. That will make the cost of funerals less than at the present time when the funerals are held in the city.

"We expect to secure contracts with the Japanese of the city also, whereby they will take a tract of the cemetery for their exclusive use. We shall be ready in another week to open the new cemetery. It is a fine piece of ground and the Board of Health has approved it from a sanitary point of view. The railroad runs at one side so the transfer of the funeral party from the train to the cemetery will be very easy. No better site could be chosen about the
